

My name is Alex Hales. I completed a PhD in Management from Oxford University. This is my passion to get further education in the field of management.

I intend to get this scholarship to prove myself in the field of research. I have a lot of potential that needs to be recognized by a reputable institute. I have been a student of the sciences. I have shown a distinction during my previous educational career.

I aspire to get this scholarship so that I can explore new realities and facts in the sciences. This scholarship is significant for my future career as it will lead to continuing my research work having broader exposure in this field. I have been part of different researchers.

I wrote many theses on different topics such as anthropology, genetics and entomology during my educational background. My supervisors had always been satisfied with my performance. Importantly, all my research and thesis had been approved and published by Oxford University.

After completion of my degree, I became part of an independent research institute

I had been working for more than two years. This scholarship is likely to provide me opportunities to harness new prospects by gaining benefits from further education in a reputed institute. I can make positive changes in this field if I get this scholarship will help me to develop my research qualities.

This scholarship will open new doors for me to get new experiences. I see my future as a researcher. My purpose in getting this scholarship is to meet with new researchers whose work has succeeded in this field.

If this scholarship is awarded to me, the chances of my bright future in research becomes more likely. I am the best candidate for this scholarship as my work experience and educational background show my passion for this scholarship.

This scholarship will lead me towards the zenith of success in the field of research

Respectfully,

Alex Hales”
